American Welding Society Announces 2015 Seminar Schedule

Miami, Fla., October 22, 2014 – The American Welding Society (AWS) has released the 2015 AWS Certification Seminar schedule.

The AWS Certification Department gave its first certification exam in October 1976. The Certified Welding Inspector (CWI) was the first industry-recognized certification that ensured high quality workmanship in welding. The success and prestige of this certification opened the doors for AWS to develop several more certifications benefiting the industry.

“As the welding industry grows, skilled workers are in growing demand and employers are looking for personnel with the best education, training and certifications,” said John Gayler, managing director of certification.

AWS offers over 10 different professional welding certifications, with more than 47,000 certified. To view the 2015 certification seminar schedule visit, www.aws.org/certification.

About AWS

The American Welding Society (AWS) was founded in 1919 as a multifaceted, nonprofit organization with a mission to advance the science, technology and application of welding and allied joining and cutting processes including brazing, soldering, and thermal spraying. Headquartered in Doral, Florida, and led by a volunteer organization of officers and directors, AWS serves nearly 70,000 members worldwide and is composed of 22 Districts with 250 Sections and student chapters.
